Rubicon Diving Centre, based in Playa Blanca at the south of Lanzarote, in the Canary Islands, provides traditional recreational diving courses, technical diving, rebreathers and underwater photography for all levels.

For certified divers and courses we provide all diving gear if needed, boats, and lots of space to prepare your camera and get ready for your dive.

We know how much a photographer values their equipment and we take special care in the way we handle it. This is one of the many reasons why Marina Rubicon Diving Centre was chosen for Fotosub Lanzarote, the top underwater photographic competition on the island. This year's winner, Arturo Telle is now taking part in the Sea Underwater Photography World Championship in Korea as Spain's representative. Arturo qualified to represent Spain by winning the official Spanish Underwater Photography Championship held last September in Alicante.

Arturo Telle is member of our staff and teaches underwater photography for all levels, including professional photographers. Link to the web page

Unlike many dive centres that are forced to fit into an existing building and having to drive to a port or dive from shore, our dive centre is ideally located in a sports marina. We have direct access to a pontoon where two of our three boats are moored. Our equipment will never be damaged with sand or dust from shore. There is always a dive guide to show you the best spots. All our dive equipment is in perfect condition, and for those who already dive with air or nitrox, you can try a rebreather, which is a dream for every underwater photographer. More time and no bubbles to care about!

Lanzarote is a fantastic place to come and learn or simply dive.

One of the key reasons is good conditions all year round. Lanzarote's unique topography, formed by volcanoes, has created a fantastic variety of dive sites and allured a vast array of marine life.

Furthermore, direct flights from U.K to Lanzarote are very inexpensive, and we can help you arrange your stay here in Playa Blanca, along with transportation to our dive centre.

Whether your plans is to relax, have some fun, or rise to a challenge, let us welcome you and support you in your needs, as you make a "GIANT STEP" into the world of underwater photography.
