

Airport International Roller "Low Divider Set"

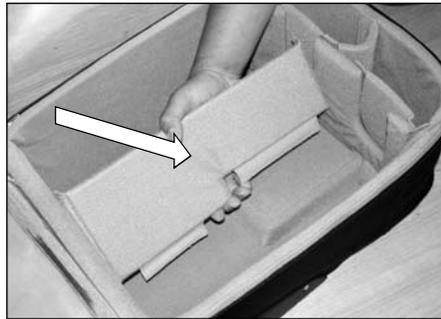

The Airport International roller can hold either the Artificial Intelligence 15 laptop case in the front stretch pocket, or with the "low divider" set, it can be placed inside.

By using this "low divider" set, a space is created inside of the roller so that the Artificial Intelligence 15 laptop case can be placed inside on top of the "low dividers."

These dividers are included in the original Airport International. Remove all of the other dividers, but keep these dividers in place.

Locate the stiffened L-shaped divider. Use these dividers to fit over the molded bottom of the bag.

Place the dividers based on your preference. Make sure you use some of the stiffened dividers, since they will help support the laptop case.

When loading your gear, make sure it does not extend above the stiffened dividers or other dividers. Otherwise, weight and objects pressing down on the bag could damage your laptop.

Before using the roller, test it first to make sure the laptop case fits on top of the dividers and the case can still be closed.

Think Tank Photo's Cable Management 50 bag can also be placed on top of the dividers.

WARNING: This roller is not designed to be checked luggage when traveling by airline. It is designed to stay with you at all times. If for some reason you are forced to check it, remove the laptop case and your SLR camera bodies and hand carry them onto the plane. Checking your gear with the laptop enclosed may permanently damage your equipment.
